Exhibition Introduction

A crucial step taken by the IWF Organizing Committee to reach the fitness market in South China, integrate resources across China's industrial chain, and build a bridge for cooperation between the Pearl River Delta and the Asia-Pacific region. IWF SHENZHEN 2026 will further expand its exhibition scale and add core exhibition halls, providing ample space for showcasing large-scale intelligent fitness equipment and leveraging regional advantages to unleash industrial capacity. Held concurrently will be the Sports Goods Foreign Trade & Cross-border Sourcing Expo and the AI Sports & Intelligent Fitness Technology Expo, aiming to establish China's leading platform for innovative display and business matchmaking.

Regional Advantages

A High-Level International Trade Hub

- ① Core Engine of the Greater Bay Area: As a core city of the Guangdong-Hong Kong-Macao Greater Bay Area, Shenzhen possesses inherent advantages for reaching markets in South China, the Pearl River Delta, Southeast Asia, and beyond.
- ② Global Hub for Intelligent Sports Technology: Leveraging its industrial cluster strengths in fields like artificial intelligence and electronic information technology, the expo focuses on cutting-edge technologies such as smart fitness equipment, wearable sports tech, AI training systems, VR/AR sports equipment, and big data analytics platforms, creating a premier display and trading platform for smart sports technology.
- ③ Core of the Sports Industry Ecosystem: Connecting the manufacturing base of the Pearl River Delta with the consumer market of the Greater Bay Area, the expo covers the entire industry chain from fitness equipment production and smart technology R&D to sports services, fostering a fully integrated ecosystem platform.

Global Center for Foreign Trade and Cross-border Commerce

- ① Capitalizing on Shenzhen's status as China's foreign trade window and cross-border e-commerce hub, the expo attracts international traders to connect with local supply chains, promoting the export of sports and fitness products and international technological collaboration.
- ② Against the backdrop of Shenzhen consistently leading the nation in total foreign trade import and export volume, IWF Shenzhen is poised to become a new link driving China's sports and fitness equipment manufacturing industry into the global market. It will establish a "Global Cross-border Product Sourcing Center," covering fitness equipment, sportswear, smart devices, and more, providing direct access to emerging markets like Southeast Asia, the Middle East, and South America.
- ③ By gathering industry elites worldwide and centrally showcasing cutting-edge products and innovative technologies across the entire industry chain, the expo assists exhibiting enterprises in expanding market channels, establishing long-term, stable partnerships with global collaborators, and unlocking greater potential business opportunities.
